ALL THINGS NICE

► A visit to Lorenzo Villoresi's elegant fragrance store on Florence's Via de' Bardi is an experience not to be missed. The niche label's offerings include a number of scents influenced by Villoresi's travels to the Middle East, featuring notes of patchouli, rosewood, lavender and other carefully sourced and blended ingredients. Villoresi was the 2006 winner of the Prix Coty, the most prestigious award for a creative perfumer, and his irresistible fragrances are a testament to his talent. In the unlikely event that nothing in the collection suits, there is a personalised fragrance service, available by appointment. CP
